Congress makes the following findings:

1	(1) In accordance with section 701 of the Inter-
2	national Financial Institutions Act (22 U.S.C.

4	ment that the voice and vote of the United States
5	in international financial institutions "shall advance
6	the cause of human rights, including by seeking to
7	channel assistance towards countries other than
8	those whose governments engage in a pattern
9	of gross violations of internationally recognized
10	human rights, such as torture or cruel, inhumane, or
11	degrading treatment or punishment, prolonged de-
12	tention without charges, or other flagrant denial to
13	life, liberty, and the security of person".
14	(2) International and civil society organizations
15	have documented significant human rights abuses by
16	the Government of Turkey since the failed coup at-
17	tempt in July 2016.
18	(3) The 2017 Country Report on Human
19	Rights Practices of the Department of State for
20	Turkey highlights significant human rights issues in
21	Turkey, including the "arbitrary arrest and deten-
22	tion under the state of emergency of tens of thou-
23	sands, including members of parliament and two
24	Turkish-national employees of the U.S. Mission to
25	Turkey".

1	(4) United States citizens continue to be sub-
2	jected to unacceptable harassment and human rights
3	violations by the Government of Turkey, including
4	prolonged detention on unsubstantiated, politically
5	motivated allegations, and arbitrary restrictions on
6	freedom of movement.
7	SEC. 3. STATEMENT OF POLICY.
8	It is the policy of the United States—
9	(1) to oppose any effort by a foreign govern-
10	ment to detain United States citizens for political le-
11	verage; and
12	(2) to contest the pattern of the Government of
13	Turkey of arbitrary detention of and denial of free-
14	dom of movement to United States citizens (includ-
15	ing dual citizens) and locally employed staff of the 16	United States mission to Turkey.
